

FAIR:

A NETWORK APPROACH
TO SUSTAINABILITY,
INNOVATION AND COMPETITIVENESS

ABSTRACT

WHICH IS THE BEST WAY FORWARD: TO STAY ON COURSE AND FOCUS ON IMPROVEMENTS OR FORGE AHEAD WITH A MORE AMBITIOUS GROWTH PLAN?

The Fashion Alliance to Innovate Responsibly (FAIR) is a Peruvian association that brings together sustainable fashion brands and textile manufacturers in favour of sustainable development within the fashion and textile sector in Peru. On October 20th 2020, in the middle of the Covid-19 pandemic, FAIR's CEO Rizal Bragagnini was chairing the network's annual meeting virtually.

After providing an overview of the mission of the alliance and of the activities completed and in progress, it came time to discuss the future strategy of the alliance with the members. While the mission of FAIR alliance was clear, the strategy was not. Given the many challenges the industry was facing in recent years, specifically in relation to the economy, sustainability and animal welfare, Rizal knew this was not going to be an easy discussion. Pressure was mounting from various stakeholders, and many members held different points of views and ideas concerning the way forward for the alliance. From Rizal's perspective, there were really only two paths to be considered for the future of the network – to stay the course and focus on improvements, deferring any major strategy decisions for another year; or forge ahead with more ambitious growth plans.

The question that remained to be answered was - which was the best way forward.
